Execution

Building on what's worked and learning from what didn't

Honest reflections on what is needed to accelerate

What we achieved	What we learnt	What we are doing
Strengthened advantaged footprint with strategic acquisitions and divestments	One-size-fits-all not effective – growth demands differentiation and focus across 75+ OpCos	1 Advantaged & Differentiated Footprint  Differentiate strategy to shape category by archetypes and focus on 17 growth markets
Outperformed and undisputed leaders in Premium and 0.0	- Healthy Mainstream brands key to drive volume - Beyond Beer strategy too fragmented and unfocused	2 Shape the Category  Continue to pioneer in Premium and LoNo, strengthen Mainstream, and stretch intentionally Beyond Beer
Superior Heineken® brand growth through proven model	- Should replicate the Heineken® model on other global brands - Haven't maximised other power brands - Have spread investments too thin	3 Fewer, Better, Bigger Brands  Focus on 5 global brands, 25 local power brands, and repeatable solutions
Boosted commercial capabilities, harmonised Ways of Working, and proved AI use cases	- Step up needed in RMG to optimise Brand-Value Equation - Need to scale AI end-to-end	4 Scale Excellent Execution with AI  Reduce reliance on pricing with RMG and achieve +20% efficiency and effectiveness through people + AI

The advertisement features a large, condensation-covered can of Heineken 0.0 Ultimate on the left. The can has a green top band with 'ZERO CALS', 'ZERO ALCOHOL', and 'ZERO SUGAR' in white. The main body is white with a large red star and the Heineken logo. Below the logo, it says 'ALC. 0.0% BY VOL.' and 'ULTIMATE' in blue. To the right, three people (two men and one woman) are standing on a green field under a blue sky, holding smaller cans of the beverage. The woman is in the center, wearing a yellow and green polo shirt and a white skirt. The man on the left is wearing a white polo shirt with red stripes and green shorts. The man on the right is wearing a white tank top and blue shorts. The background is a bright, sunny outdoor setting.
